

Dina Ropele Santos

I received my MFA in Photography from San Jose State University in 2008, studying with Brian Taylor (Director of the Center for Photographic Art.) I currently teach photography at Hartnell College in Salinas. My work has primarily been self portraiture and performance, but my current body of work is a portrait series exploring motherhood and domestic space. This project is called, The Source Project. Here is a link to my website.

<http://www.dinasantosphotography.com>