2014 RESUME FOR TERRY SHOULDERS

In 1962 Terry Shoulders began his professional involvement with the photographic image, shooting for the local newspaper.

While attending art school in Chicago he accepted an opportunity to apprentice as an assistant at a top commercial studio. This experience served him well, and in 1971 he opened his own commercial photography studio.

The next 2 decades Terry immersed himself in advertising photography, shooting for clients such as Fortune 500 Companies. Also included were The Chicago Stock Exchange, American Express, United Airlines, Fed-X, Sara Lee, Hiram Walker Liqueurs, Converse, and Illinois & Michigan Bell among others.

From these 20 years of exploration Terry's own unique style emerged into a body of work. His images express mood and atmosphere. . .and artistic individuality.

Terry has presented numerous exhibitions, and given several lectures over the years.

In 2006 he began to share his experience and enthusiasm for the photographic medium by offering photographic workshops.

Terry has been Director of fine art galleries in Taos, New Mexico, Sedona, Arizona, and Carmel, California.

In 2009 Terry, and his wife Juna, relocated to the Monterey Peninsula where he was a Docent and then selected to be Workshop Coordinator for The Center for Photography. He continues his passion for fine art photography, and currently has his own fine art photography gallery in Carmel... 'Shoulders Photography Gallery' Carmel Plaza.

Gallery representation of Terry Shoulders images has included Chicago, Illinois, Taos and Santa Fe, New Mexico, Jerome and Sedona, Arizona, and culminating in Shoulders Photography Gallery in Carmel, California.
